AMUSEMENTS

Hijon—Haulon's "Superba."
Lubin—Vaudeville.

Delightful Performance.
Lubin H. Howe, of the Academy, last night presented a moving picture and talking show which reminded one of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp. The Arabian Nights, so swiftly and charmingly was the audience carried from country to country and so realistic were the scenes.

The performance was delightful throughout, and a packed house showed its appreciation by heartily applauding every number.
Howe is as far above the ordinary picture showman as Bernardi is beyond the leading lady; an "Ince Tom's Cabin" type of company. Even the printed announcements thrown upon the curtain are quaint conceits, while many of the scenes are really artistic. Those who judge the "Travel Festival" last night had better trim their lamps and get ready for next season, for it is better even than the press agent's promise, and there is no chance that it will be cut down in the heyday of its youth or wither before the glare of the Mayor's displeasure.

Bernhardi Matinee.
Manager W. F. of the Academy of Music, was advised yesterday that Mme. Sarah Bernhardi had agreed to appear at a matinee on Tuesday next, and will present "Jeanne d'Arc." She will play "Camille" at night. In view of the extraordinary demand for seats the matinee manager was urged to have her give two performances. The Academy has been sold out for the night performance, and under a rule announced yesterday no night seats will be changed for matinee. The matinee will begin promptly at 2 o'clock and the night performance promptly at 8 o'clock.

Basketball Game To-Night.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lexington, Va., February 10.—The basketball game of the Davidson College, at Ashland, and the local V. M. C. A. will meet at the local association building to-morrow night.

AMATEURS ARE READY FOR ORGANIZATION

Rousing Meeting To-Night at 8 o'clock in Times-Dispatch Business Office—Everyone Interested Cordially Invited to Attend. Will Elect Officers.

The Richmond Amateur Baseball League will be formed to-night, when a meeting of all interested will be held in the business office of The Times-Dispatch, 216 East Main Street, beginning at 8 o'clock. It is expected that upwards of fifty persons will be on hand to discuss the many questions which will arise.

A president and a board of directors will be elected, and a schedule and constitution and by-laws will be adopted. The question of the number of teams to compose the league will also be settled definitely. Indeed, there are a number of things to occupy the attention of the body. Councilman Frank Butler, who is an enthusiast of the question of amateur baseball, has consented to be on hand and add his words of wisdom to the general discussion.

Every man of the half-hundred to be on hand is taking the league seriously. Organization is to be effected along business lines with an eye for the permanency of the league. Every detail which may have a bearing on the ultimate success of the organization will be considered, and an attempt will be made to guard against the many contingencies which have heretofore arisen in similar organizations and which worked against the smooth running of affairs.

Business Men Interested.
The players and the managers of the teams realize that this is no fly-by-night affair. They mean business, and are coming to the meeting prepared to discuss matters from a business standpoint. Some people are going to be surprised when they discover the names of those who have made possible the success of the league.

Honest, now, no kidding, but the sun did shine yesterday.
Yes, folks, James W. Sullivan, manager of the Richmond baseball team, is expected to arrive to-day.

He will not arrive in a special coach, nor will there be a brass band at the station to meet him.
He will walk into town unobtrusively, seek his hotel, think over a few thoughts and imbibe a little of the local scene, and then claim Richmond as the place of his nativity.

Sullivan has one or two men of whom he expects much on his waiting list. The names will be given to the public just as soon as it is deemed advisable.
"C" McDonald, the man who made pitchers quail when he came up at bat, and the bat was in town yesterday. He has quit playing baseball and is now traveling for a sporting goods house. "C" tipped Owen Bradley to some coming youngsters who will be investigated.

Some of the people interested in baseball are anxious to have the earned run placed back in the tabulated score. While it cannot be done this season, the request sounds reasonable.

In addition it has the merit of being popular. When the earned run was taken from the tabulated score there was much opposition. Candidly, I am of the opinion that the earned run should be a part of the score. It is one of the game better than any other feature.

So Hack fell down in his try at throwing Zyzek. Not all surprising. The "Russian Lion" has been doing most of his roaring at long distances, and when he went up against the pole he found a man worthy of his best efforts.

The real surprise is that Zyzek did not throw Hack.

Mr. Cotton, he whom they said had a chance against Jack Johnson, in fact, he was one of the very first hopes, took the mount when Morris Harris doing out a surprising fight between the eyes. It took but few rounds to prove the undoing of Cotton.

Some of Ad. Wolgast's friends are tipping it off that the Michigan wonder never was a great fighter over the short route, and that had the go with Brown gone for a greater number of rounds Ad. would have taken the measure of the Eastside German.

Up in Cadillac, Mich., from which beautiful the Wolgast comes, they think him a wonder. Cadillac is on the lake front, and is the coldest place in the world, and Ad. had all his training skidding logs, which means that he is some big roller.

But he tried it once too often. That roller war he worked well for some time, but it began to sour on the public after a while, and now the drubbing he received at the hands of a boy whose reputation is new made his value as a drawing card has been considerably diminished.

Already they are talking about a return match. Strikes me that Ad. could probably take a rest for a few weeks without giving the people over much.

Just to keep my hand in will be willing to sustain any odds on bet that the "Tide-sible the success of the amateur league. Others who are surprised when they learn the article of baseball which will be delivered by the amateurs. Unless all signs fail, the lovers of the game in Richmond should have an opportunity of seeing some of the best baseball in the country this season.

Naturally, the primary impulse actuating those who are working for the success of the league was to get together the best obtainable amateur talent for the purpose of furthering the physical and moral well-being of the men participating in the games. As an incident it was realized that some mighty good material would be developed during the course of the season.

For this reason it was deemed advisable to look around for some man who knew baseball and to get him to act as secretary. The duty of the secretary will be to keep a correct record of the men, so that in the future if any information is desired as to any individual it can be obtained. This will be true of the character of the men on and off the ball field, as well as of his playing ability.
One of the most important questions to be considered is securing an enclosed ball park in the western portion of the city. The East End is well supplied with ball parks, but in the western part of the city, with the exception of William Byrd Park, there are few diamonds which are available for the week-end games. But the meeting will be able to determine upon some scheme to secure such a park. Just get in line and be on hand when the big discussion takes place. member, Times-Dispatch business office at 8 o'clock to-night.

DISSENSION MAY BRING DISASTER

To-night the insurgents are moving to a better position, and there is frequent firing between outposts. An attack will be made at daylight.

Customs Inspector Tom Perrine and Lee Grigsby were fired on by Mexican soldiers, and their machines were shot. During the fight Deputy Marshal Eugene Warren sustained several injuries.

Captain Williams has notified General League that there must be no more firing across the river. If his orders are disobeyed international complications may arise.

Troops Crossing Border.
El Paso, Texas, February 10.—Reports reached the city early this morning that a body of armed men was crossing the international boundary between North and Mexico, about twenty-five miles west of this city, on the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad. A train of nine cars was made up and left at 3 o'clock this morning, carrying a large detachment of the Fourth United States Cavalry to the scene.

General Canlis yesterday, camped last night at Rancho Flores with approximately 600 men. Whether he will risk a battle with General Navarro, who is marching north with 1,000 men, or whether he will retire to the hills until he can collect a larger force is uncertain.

If he should succeed in gathering the scattered bands of insurgents under his command, he might oppose Navarro on nearly equal terms, but it is believed that the latter's jealousy among the insurgents' leaders will make the plan impossible.

General Blanco, with over 300 men, is reported thirty miles south of Rancho Flores, but it is unlikely he will join Orozco in view of the personal enmity between them. General Navarro is reported eighty miles south of Juarez.

General Hoyt Retained.
San Antonio, Tex., February 10.—Because of conditions along the Mexican border, Brigadier-General Ralph W. Hoyt, commander of the Department of Texas, who was to have relinquished command to-day and assume charge of the Department of Dakota, has been instructed to continue in control of the Texas troops pending the arrival of Brigadier-General Joseph W. Duncan, who will succeed him February 20.

THINK IT IS LEWIS WEST.
New York, Feb. 10.—The description of Lewis West, the negro who killed Deputy Sheriff Mumford at Wilson last week, was captured to-night at Maxton by the chief of police and placed in jail.

The negro had eight pistols on his person, three of which bore numbers corresponding to those stolen at Dunn, for which crime the negro was originally wanted. Also two large knives, one of which was bloody, and about a quart of cartridges.

There is a fresh wound on the negro's left breast, and has a wen on the neck, an identification mark of West. Fayetteville officers were communicated with, and parties who know West are en route to Maxton in automobiles to identify the negro.

NEGROES LOSE APPEAL

Circuit Court Decides That Oklahoma's Jim Crow Law Is Constitutional.

St. Louis, Mo., February 10.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals decided to-day that Oklahoma's "Jim Crow" law is constitutional. Judge J. B. Adams filed the opinion, which was concurred in by Judge W. C. Hook, filed a dissenting opinion.

The court held that the Oklahoma law is not a violation of the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution. The negroes who brought the action declared they were being denied equal protection under the law. The case originated in the United States District Court of Oklahoma, where negroes sought an injunction to restrain the operation of the law, which provided that all common carriers must have separate coaches and waiting rooms for negroes.
